NOTE:

This application does not collect your data. It will scan your uploaded file, and display the given information within a given format. Questions / concerns can be directed to Shawn F through any medium of contact.

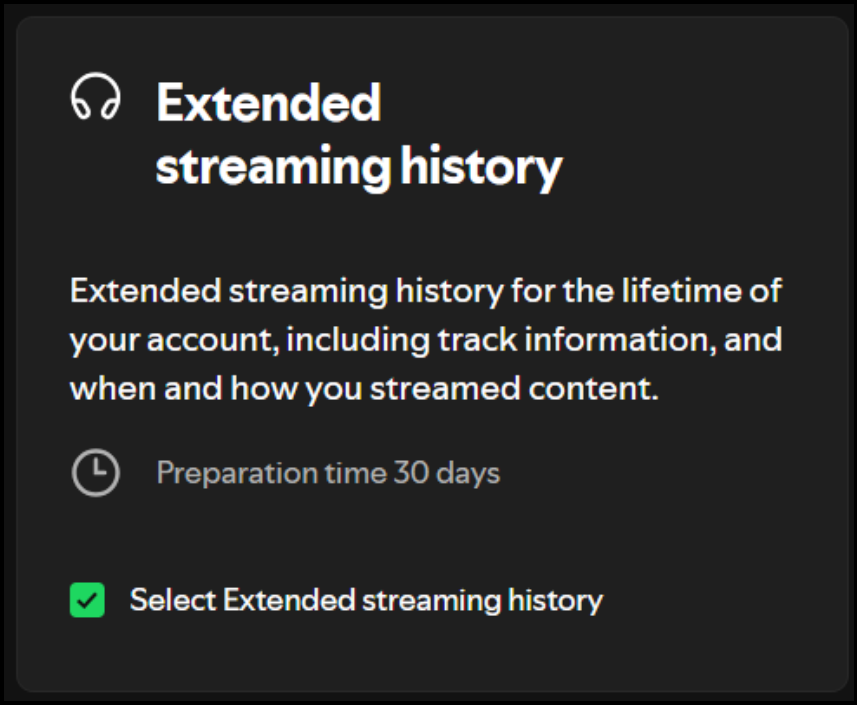

Downloading Your Data:

Go to this link, and scroll down until you find the “Download your data” section.

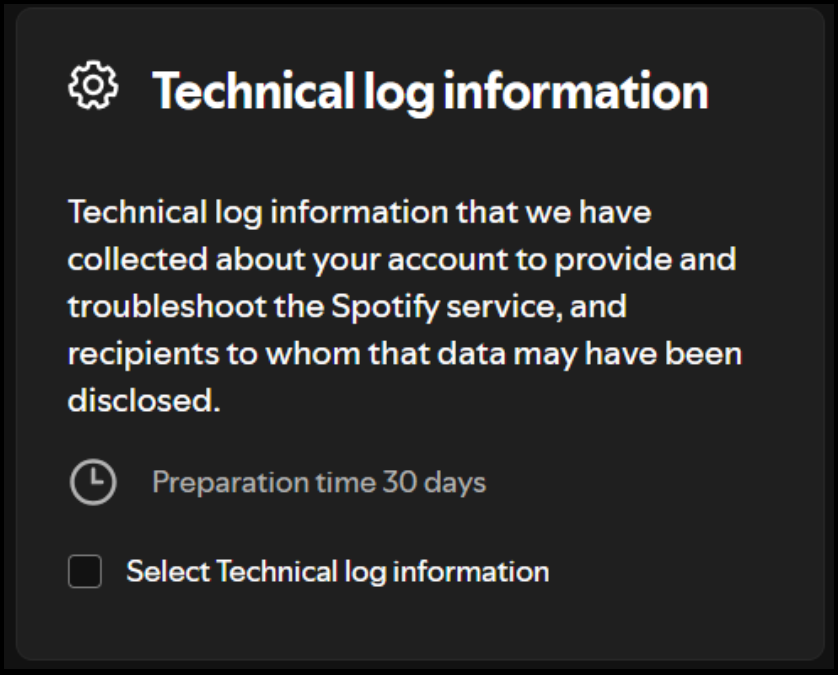

Since we do not necessarily need your account data, you can deselect this box.

We're looking to download your Extended Streaming History. This will give you your account's lifetime stats in a compressed .ZIP file. Select this box.

Don't worry about the Technical Log Information, we don't need to get your stats, keep that unchecked.

Once you've selected Extended Streaming History, click the green Request Data button.

Now check the email linked to your spotify account. You should receive something from Spotify titled "Confirm Your Spotify Data Request". Open that email, and click the green "CONFIRM" button.

After you've clicked confirm, you will be redirected back to the account privacy page, and a green header should appear on the top of your screen.

This will take some time. Users report they receive their file within 1-5 days. Spotify's official maximum is 30 days, but it shouldn't take that long.

Once you receive your file, return back to the Github Page and upload your file.
